

27 Exposure to Smoke in Schools: National Student Gender Highlights

The percentage of boys who were exposed to secondhand smoke at school ranged from 13% in Togo to 70% in Algeria in the 11 GYTS countries presented here. Among girls, exposure ranged from 12% in Togo to 65% in Algeria. In Algeria, Mauritius, and Seychelles, exposure was significantly higher among boys than girls.

DIFFERENCE IN EXPOSURE OF BOYS AND GIRLS AT SCHOOL

Percentage of students age 13–15 who were exposed to secondhand smoke at school in the past 30 days^f 2013–16

In Algeria, Mauritius, and Seychelles, exposure to secondhand smoke at school was significantly higher among boys than girls

